[redacted] Jon and [redacted] Well I want it to serialize it to the file. Ideally before it breaks publicly. If it's not ready, it's not ready. And we sure as hell better try to get the AG brief done before this breaks.

Yes. She wanted [redacted] to have one more look, but there's no reason you couldn't ask her for it.

A lot of interesting quotes in here. Is Trisha's write up done?

JULIAN ASSANGE, Founder, WikiLeaks: I'm afraid I must correct you, Judy. I didn't say that we would be releasing information that has been hacked from the DNC.

We said that we have a significant amount of information, and the information itself is significant, and it pertains to Hillary Clinton's campaign. And we will be releasing it in several batches as we are finished with the journalistic work on each batch.

More DNC information to come, says WikiLeaks founder in the aftermath of a devastating email-hacking incident involving top Democratic party officials, WikiLeaks is preparing to release new information "on a range of important issues." According to organization founder Julian Assange, WikiLeaks is now immersed in formatting the information to be easily accessible to journalists and the general public. Judy Woodruff interviews Assange for details.
